Dear Dr. Robert R. Green

Imagine for a moment a world vastly different from ours. No electricity, no medicine. Contemplate the agony of war, the lack of vital nutrients. Think about the helpless, the weak, the sick, the dying. Think about infection or unchecked diarrhea due to the lack of clean water.

This kind of world does exist. For millions of people, especially children — in West Africa this is the reality. But they now know after having seen better times that they have recently lived among these fine people in such stark conditions.

Consider these staggering facts:

1,000,000 children die of malaria each year in Africa. In Nigeria a child might well receive 300 insect bites a day. 120,000 children under five die annually in Ghana. 70% are malnutrition/infection related. Infant mortality: Ghana = 115 per 1,000 live births. U.S. = 12 per 1,000.

Cold figures do not portray the real tragedy of Africa.

These tragedies are being lessened by a voluntary organization known as: FRIENDS OF WEST AFRICA, a registered nonprofit corporation.

We have made specific inroads on the problem of malaria.

Listen to the testimony of an American nurse.

"I want to thank you for sending the medicine. It is a great relief to the people here. They have no chemist shops looking for tablets to test A. and B. blood. Diabetes. We finally had to go to Accra and buy it there."

"Last week a man needed an emergency operation. He was brought to the hospital. He looks like he isn't going to make it. He has no money. We are going to Dr. Kissi tomorrow in hopes of getting him to the hospital. (Dr. Kissi is the unpaid spearhead of our program. All the medicine and supplies are shipped by FRIENDS OF WEST AFRICA.)"
